Dear Chairman Blunt, Ranking Member Murray, Chairman Cole, and Ranking Member DeLauro:

We, the undersigned organizations and teachers, teacher leaders, principals, other schools leaders, leadership preparation faculty, and advocates, write to you in support of funding for the School Leader Recruitment and Support Program (SLRSP)—the only federal program specifically focused on investing in evidence-based, locally-driven strategies to strengthen school leadership in high-need schools.

We are a group of organizations and individuals who believe that all schools can become great schools if teachers, principals, and other school leaders have the preparation and ongoing support needed to put into practice the best educational strategies and approaches. We are now working with states, districts, and schools on implementation of the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA).

And we all know that leadership matters. More than a decade of research shows that well-prepared, well-supported principals have a huge influence on teacher practice and student success. School leaders account for 25 percent of a school’s impact on student learning, and an above-average principal can improve student achievement by 20 percentage points. Moreover, like workers in any other profession, the best teachers want to work for the best bosses. Outstanding school leaders attract and retain great educators: fully 97 percent of teachers list principal quality as critical to their retention and career decisions—more than any other factor. And school leaders transform the lowest-performing schools, where the positive effects of strong leadership on student achievement are most pronounced. In fact, a landmark study found “virtually no documented instances of troubled schools being turned around without intervention by a powerful leader.”

Authorized by ESSA with bipartisan support to strengthen the School Leadership Program (SLP), SLRSP empowers states and school districts, individually or in partnership with nonprofits or institutions of higher education, to accelerate the recruitment, preparation, support, and retention of dynamic school leaders who have a measurable, positive impact on student achievement in high-need schools. Robust investment in school leadership via SLRSP is critical to achieving the major goals of ESSA and delivering on the promise of local control: strong, sustained implementation of improvement strategies in every classroom, every year, across entire schools.

Our schools should be places where great teachers thrive and all students excel. We can reach this goal by prioritizing investments in strategies that address how our schools—not just individual classrooms, but all classrooms within a school—are organized and led. Unfortunately, school leadership has historically been overlooked and underfunded, which has done a great disservice to teachers, students, and school communities who rely on the support and expertise of well-prepared, well-supported principals.
As the Appropriations Committees negotiate final FY 2018 spending levels, we urge Congress to maintain funding for SLRSP to seed innovative, evidence-based school leadership programs and partnerships.

Sincerely,

Achievement Network
